

The beauty and serenity of this lovely location in the gently rolling hills of New Jersey are reflected in the temperament and quality of Brookhollow Farm's award-winning alpacas..

Nancy Johanson with Snowmass Invincible

Ten years ago, the Johanson Family made our first pilgrimage to an alpaca farm. It was love at first sight! Within a few days of that visit, Brookhollow Farm bought our first four alpacas and our foray into alpaca farming had begun. This number grew exponentially to a herd size of more than 120 featuring some of the finest alpacas in the country. Snowmass Invincible, perhaps the best known of all, brought world-class genetics to Brookhollow Farm. The results of his breeding over the past 4 years are now breeding new generations of top-of-the-line alpacas. Among our other elite herdsires are Snowmass Nova, Accoyo America Taj Mahal, and Express' Peruvian Smokey the Bear who are also producing winners for Brookhollow and our esteemed clients. Our family is justifiably proud of the high-class herd assembled at Brookhollow. We welcome visitors to meet our "high society girls" and their "escorts."

Invincible's Brookhollow Might

Invincible's Brookhollow Superstar

Brookhollow Farm's commitment to further the alpaca lifestyle is evidenced by the many events that take place throughout the year. We believe that sharing knowledge of all aspects of alpaca breeding and care is an important element in fostering the growth of this dynamic industry.

Our calendar is filled with events to encourage visitors both young and old. Brookhollow Farm hosts a Day of Shearing in mid-spring when alpacas from various farms are brought to Brookhollow for an incomparable shearing experience! Highly skilled shearers quickly and efficiently remove each alpaca's winter coat while visitors look on, amazed at the instant transformation from "teddy bear" to other worldly character. Many able bodies are on hand to ease the stress of shearing for these alpacas and their owners. On-lookers are welcome and often put to work as well.

Invincible's Incredible Crias

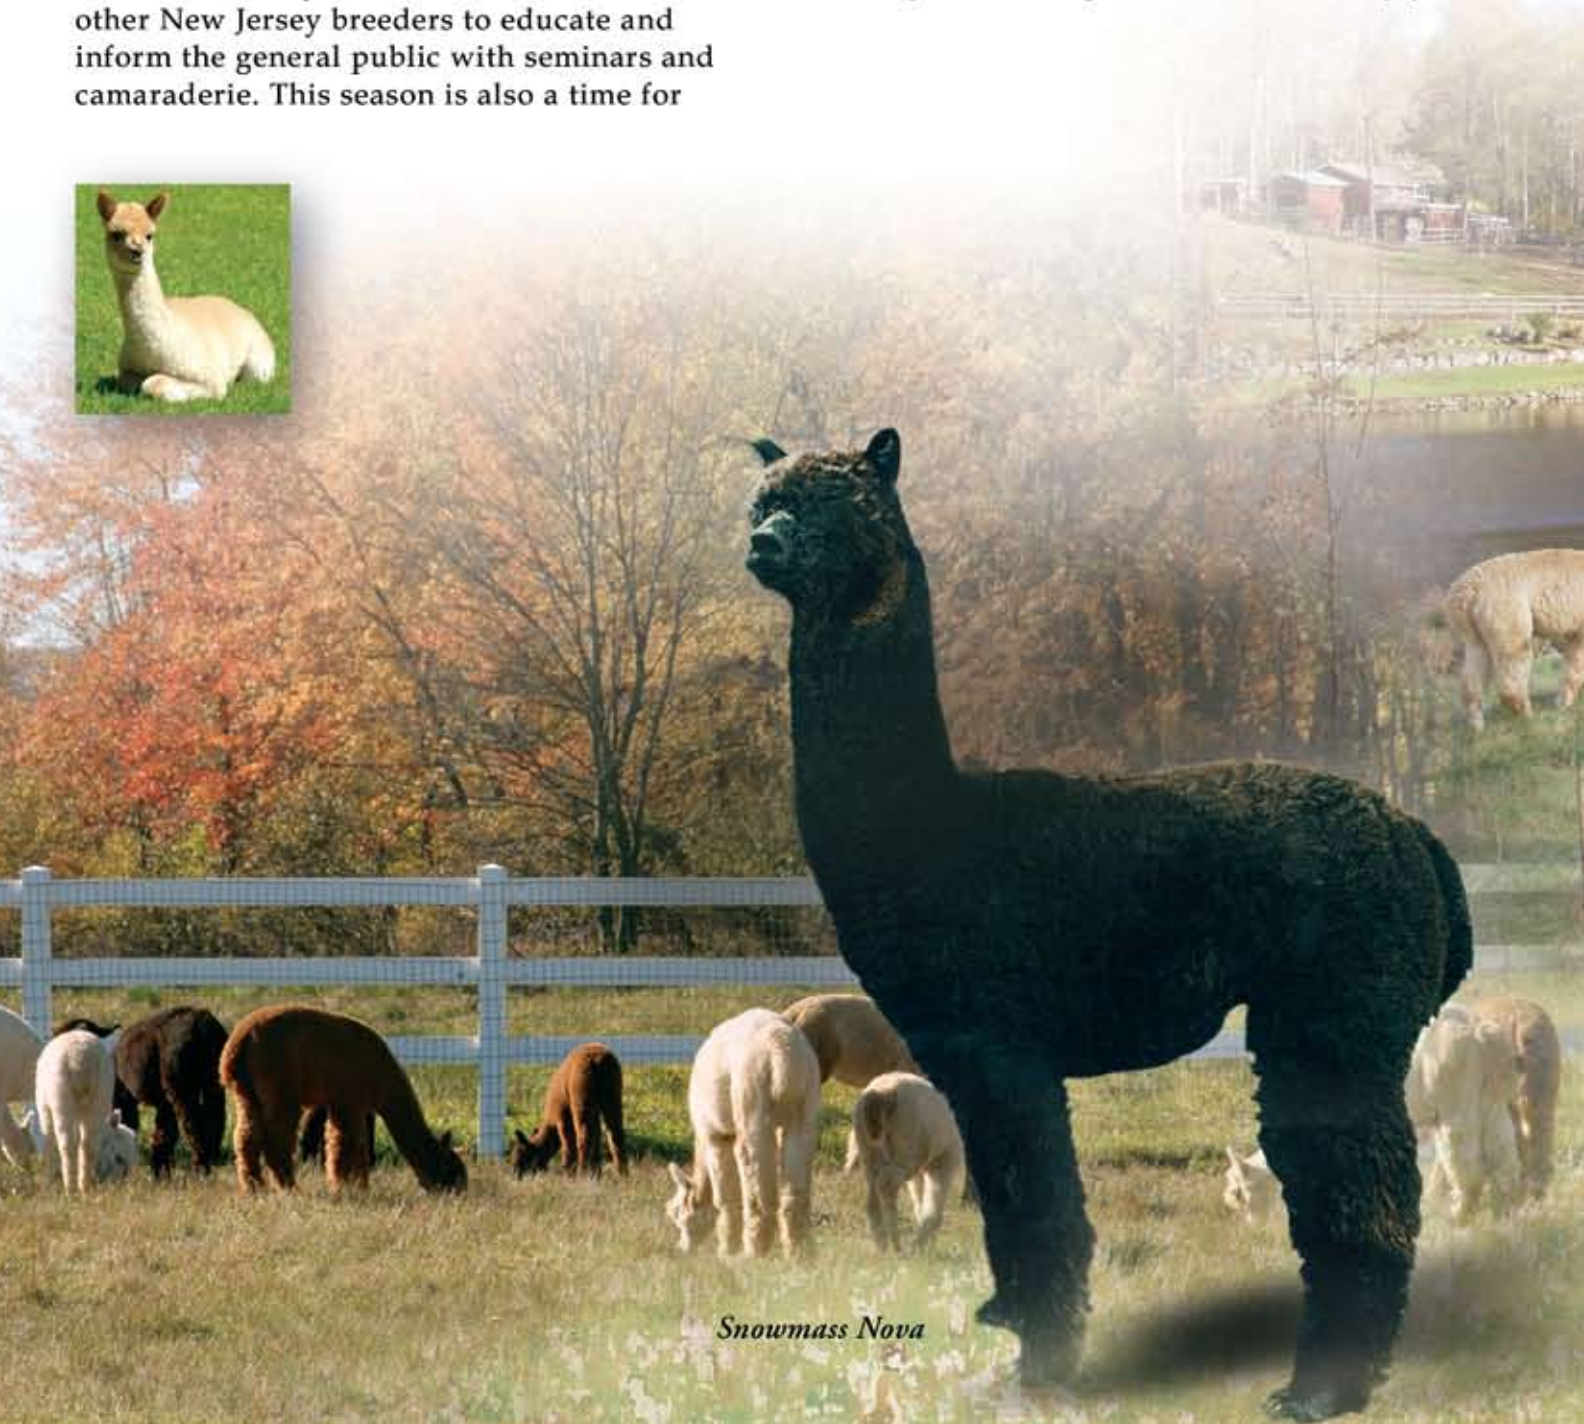

In summer, Brookhollow's signature event, the East Meets West Alpaca Auction, continues to bring excitement to the local community. Breeders have come to expect the best from this highly-anticipated auction. This fun-filled week-end affords the opportunity to visit the tranquil New Jersey countryside and get to know breeders from around the country in a relaxed atmosphere while viewing and bidding on the auction's superb alpacas.

As the weather cools, Brookhollow Farm participates in Discover Alpacas, a day-long event that Nancy Johanson co-founded with other New Jersey breeders to educate and inform the general public with seminars and camaraderie. This season is also a time for Brookhollow's highly-anticipated Pumpkin Patch. During this month-long event, children and adults alike are taken by hayride to mingle among Brookhollow's engaging livestock after choosing their pumpkins from the adjacent field.

The spirit of Christmas comes to Brookhollow in December when families arrive to choose and cut their annual Christmas tree from among the many evergreens growing at the farm. If weather permits, hayrides to visit the alpacas are offered together with hot chocolate and cookies. No matter the season, there's always something for the visitor to enjoy.

Snowmass Nova

W hether you're looking to start an alpaca farm or just want a nice warm pair of alpaca socks, you'll be welcomed in the same friendly manner. Plan a visit now!

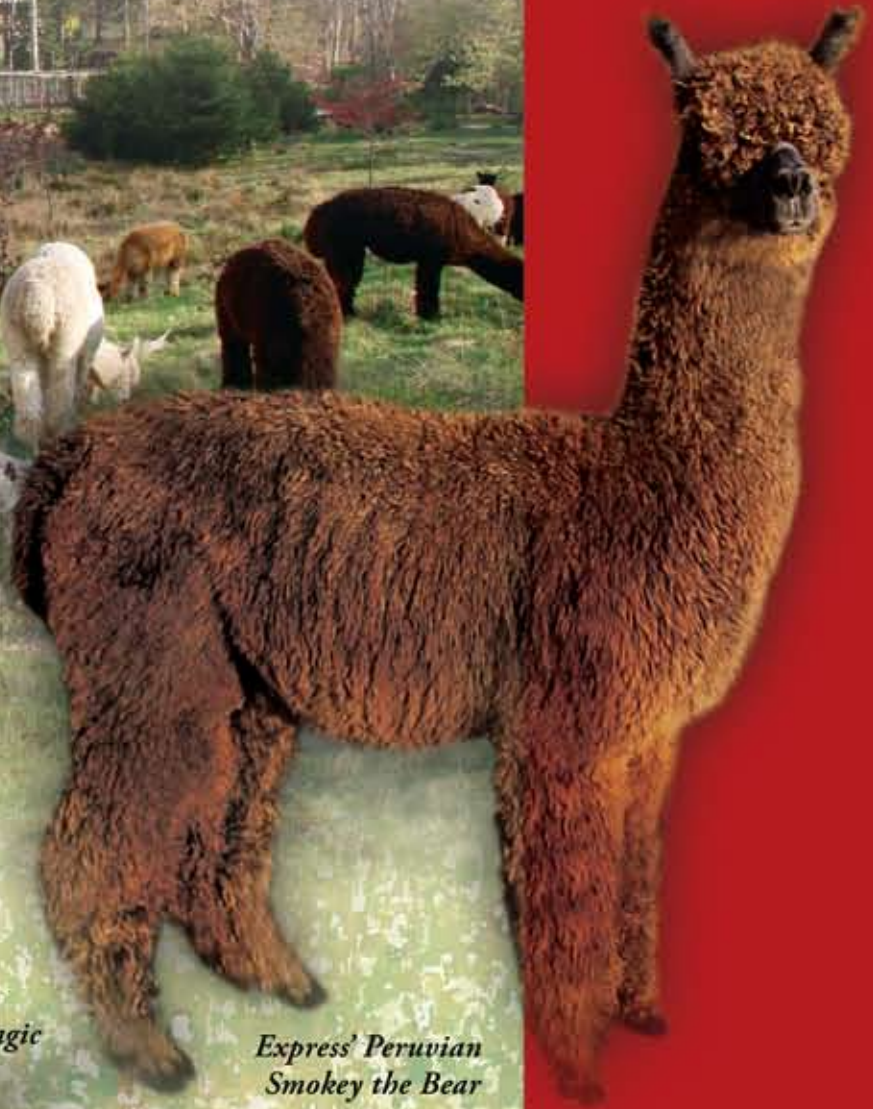

Brookhollow Farm

*301 Rockaway Valley Road
Boonton, New Jersey 07005
Ph 973 610 1963*

Snowmass Midnight Magic

*Express' Peruvian
Smokey the Bear*